

“THE SWAMP MONSTER”

400 Ways in 400 Days

How the Trump Administration Is Flooding the Swamp in Washington

FEBRUARY 26, 2018

DEMOCRACY REFORM TASK FORCE

REP. JOHN SARBANES, CHAIR

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

President Donald J. Trump campaigned on a promise to “drain the swamp” in Washington. He vowed that as President he would take steps to break the “cycle of corruption” and end “decades of special interest dealing,”ⁱ and he pledged to aggressively pursue meaningful reforms to improve transparency and accountability in government.ⁱⁱ As President Trump marks his 400th day in office, this report – the fourth edition in the Democracy Reform Task Force’s series of “100 Ways” oversight reports – documents 400 ways in which the Trump Administration has broken its campaign promises.

Specifically, this report explores how the Trump Administration has:

- Made a Mockery of Ethics Law and Regulation
- Promoted a Culture of Secrecy in the Executive Branch
- Stacked His Cabinet with Big Money Campaign Donors
- Installed a Special-Interest Revolving Door into the Trump White House
- Put Big Money Ahead of the Public Interest
- Turned the Presidency into a Profit-Making Enterprise
- Pursued Public Policy for Trump’s Personal Benefit
- Raided the Treasury to Pay for Vacation & Private Business Promotion

Four hundred days in and the Trump Administration is defiant in its disregard for the laws and norms in place to prevent corruption and promote accountability. What’s more, the Trump Administration is running away from its stated goal of “transferring power to the people.” Instead, it has empowered a narrow class of wealthy and well-connected insiders. Trump’s promise to “drain the swamp” has been broken. As one lobbyist-turned-Trump Administration-official put it, “the swamp continues.”ⁱⁱⁱ

Made a Mockery of Ethics Law and Regulation

President Donald Trump’s “Ethics” Executive Order was supposed to “drain the swamp.” As our past three reports at the 100-day, 200-day and 300-day mark demonstrated, the Executive Order was just another example of President Trump’s tendency to overpromise and underdeliver. Over the past 100 days since our last report, we have continued to witness the Administration openly flouting ethics regulations and conflict-of-interest law.

Examples include:

- 301) Trump Hires Family Members for Posts Throughout the Administration ³⁰¹
- 302) Wilbur Ross Accused of Insider Trading ³⁰²
- 303) Kushner’s Financial Ties to Israel Deepen Even with Mideast Diplomacy Role ³⁰³

- 320) Trump's Former Bodyguard Makes $15,000 a Month from a GOP 'Slush Fund' ³²⁰
- 321) Trump Campaign Website Offers to Flash Donors' Names During Speech ³²¹

Promoted a Culture of Secrecy in the Executive Branch

Prior to his election, Donald Trump often criticized the Obama White House for its supposed lack of transparency – going so far as to label President Obama the “least transparent President ever.”^{iv} But it's President Trump who, in the first 400 days of his Administration, has instituted a culture of secrecy in the in the Executive Branch and the White House.

Examples include:

- 322) E.P.A. Contractor Has Scoured the Agency for Anti-Trump Officials ³²²
- 323) After a Year in Office, Questions About Trump's Foreign Deals Go On and On ³²³
- 324) No One Will Say Where Trump's $107 Million in Inauguration Money Went ³²⁴
- 325) Watchdog: Payment to Porn Star Was Illegal Donation to Trump Campaign ³²⁵

- 326) Trump Allies Profit from Outside Groups, Testing Campaign Finance Laws ³²⁶
- 327) Kushner Excluded U.S. China Experts from Interaction with China Diplomat ³²⁷
- 328) Trump White House Resists Effort to Disclose Visitor Logs ³²⁸
- 329) Dozens of Trump Officials Still Lack Full Security Clearance ³²⁹
- 330) Trump Hotel Paid Millions in Fines for Unpaid Work ³³⁰

Candidate Trump regularly decried the influence of big campaign donors and well-connected insiders. He promised to dismantle the “rigged” political system that rewards campaign donors with plum cabinet posts. He pledged to change the system of the “powerful protecting the powerful.”^v However, in his first 400 days, President Trump has done the opposite, stacking his cabinet with many of his largest campaign donors, while relying on numerous well-connected Washington insiders for top Administration positions.

Examples include:

- 331) 44 Trump Officials Have Close Ties to Right-Wing Billionaire Koch Brothers ³³¹
- 332) Trump Carries on Tradition of Putting Campaign Donors in Embassies ³³²
- 333) Trump Taps Big Money Donor for Ambassador – Two Weeks Later Nominee Pledges to Fund Gala at Mar-a-Lago ³³³
- 334) Adelson Offers to Help Pay for Jerusalem Embassy ³³⁴
- 335) Trump Pick for Chile Ambassador Entwined in Kushner Family Deals ³³⁵

Installed a Special Interest Revolving Door into the Trump White House

Donald Trump made criticism of Washington lobbyists and special interests a hallmark of his campaign, regularly pledging to exclude special-interest lobbyists from his Administration.^{vi} In June 2016, he declared he would have “no problem” banning lobbyists from working in his Administration.^{vii} But since taking office, the Trump White House has broken that pledge time and time again, stocking the White House – and the broader Executive Branch – with long-time Washington lobbyists and influence peddlers to an unprecedented degree.

Examples include:

- 336) Trump Taps Health Care Executive to Replace Tom Price as HHS Secretary³³⁶
- 337) Fifteen Energy Lobbyists Hired Using Trump's Weakened Rule³³⁷
- 338) White House Memo Justifying CFPB Takeover Written by Payday Lender Attorney³³⁸
- 339) Trump Pick to Head Consumer Safety Board Is Too Close to Industries³³⁹
- 340) A Former Panama Agent Is Guiding Trump's Homeland Security Pick³⁴⁰
- 341) CDC Director Resigns Over Financial Conflicts³⁴¹
- 342) Former Airline Lobbyist to Take Over for Outgoing FAA Chief³⁴²
- 343) How Trump's HHS Nominee's Drug Company 'Gamed' a Patent³⁴³
- 344) Corn Syrup Lobbyist Is Helping Set USDA Dietary Guidelines³⁴⁴

Put Big Money Ahead of the Public Interest

Throughout the 2016 election, candidate Donald Trump was quite candid about how big money operates in the American political system. He would often brag during stump speeches about his own campaign contributions to politicians and the influence they bought, declaring, “As a businessman and a very substantial donor to very important people, when you give, they do whatever the hell you want them to do.”^{viii}

Trump pledged that he would do things a different way. “I turned down $5 million last week from a very important lobbyist because there are total strings attached to a thing like that. He’s going to come to me in a year or two years and he’s going to want something for a country that he represents or a company that he represents. That’s the kind of money I won’t take,” he promised.^{ix} Yet, despite this promise and many more like it, President Trump continues to give big campaign donors a big hug.

Examples include:

- 348) Big Money Donors Threatened to Withhold Campaign Checks to the Republican Party If They Fail to Pass Tax Giveaway ³⁴⁸
- 349) GE’s Successful Effort to Change GOP Tax Bill Shows Lobbying Clout ³⁴⁹
- 350) Trump Gives Donors Tax Cuts, Then Asks Them for Campaign Donations ³⁵⁰

Turned the Presidency into a Profit-Making Enterprise

In his first 400 days in office, President Trump still has not taken any concrete steps to unwind his business interests in his many companies and investments, despite ongoing calls from ethics experts and watchdog organizations to do so. Predictably, numerous instances illustrate how the Trump Organization has profited from the Office of the Presidency, as foreign governments, domestic interests and high-powered individuals seek to curry favor with the new Administration by doing business with the Trump Organization. And this behavior doesn't stop with President Trump. Throughout the Trump Administration, senior officials have embraced their public service as a means for private gain.

Examples include:

- 368) Mar-A-Lago's New Winter Season: The Trumpettes Are In ³⁶⁸
- 369) Ticket Prices Go Up for Trump's New Year's Eve Bash At Mar-A-Lago ³⁶⁹
- 370) Foreign Governments Find Ways to Do Favors for Trump's Business ³⁷⁰

387) Kuwaiti Embassy Returns to Trump Hotel in D.C. for Its National Celebration ³⁸⁷

Pursued Public Policy for Trump's Personal Benefit

President Trump's business interests appear to color his pursuit of certain policy priorities. In several instances, the Trump Administration has avoided policies that would be detrimental to the Trump Organization, while in other instances, the Administration has pursued policies that would directly benefit the Trump Organization's bottom line.^x

Examples include:

388) Trump Winery Again Seeks to Hire Foreign Guest Workers ³⁸⁸

389) Tax Plan Crowns a Big Winner: Trump's Industry ³⁸⁹

390) Special Giveaways in Tax Bill Benefit Family Members, Colleagues of GOP Senators ³⁹⁰

394) Trump Administration Waives Punishment for Convicted Banks, Including Deutsche Bank — Which Trump Owes Millions ³⁹⁴

395) Florida (and Mar a Lago) to Be Spared in Offshore Drilling Expansion ³⁹⁵

^x The full extent to which is unknown given his aforementioned refusal to disclose his tax returns and return information.

Raided the Treasury to Pay for Vacations & Private Business Promotion

President Trump continues to embrace frequent travel since assuming the Office of the Presidency at great expense to the American taxpayer – and often to the benefit of the Trump-owned properties, which he visits. All the while, his adult children – namely, his two sons who manage the family business’s day-to-day operations – continue to exhaust significant taxpayer dollars on Secret Service protection as they travel the globe in promotion of their private interests, all with the false imprimatur of the United States government. This same profligacy with taxpayer money has infected Trump’s Cabinet, with numerous officials exhausting significant sums on first class travel.

Examples include:

- 396) Secret Service Spent $7,500 on Golf Carts on Trump's Mar-A-Lago Trip ³⁹⁶
- 397) Wife of Interior Secretary Increases Department’s Expenses Due to Out of the Ordinary Travel Demands ³⁹⁷
- 398) Interior Official Stayed at Resort Owned by Zinke’s Billionaire Friend ³⁹⁸
- 399) EPA Administrator Pruitt Regularly Flies First Class on Tax Payer’s Dime ³⁹⁹
- 400) VA Watchdog to Says Chief Wrongly Accepted Wimbledon Tickets, Airfare ⁴⁰⁰

CONCLUSION

At President Trump's inauguration on January 20, 2017, he made a critical promise to the American people. The President declared:

For too long, a small group in our nation's Capital has reaped the rewards of government while the people have borne the cost. Washington flourished – but the people did not share in its wealth. Politicians prospered – but the jobs left, and the factories closed. The establishment protected itself, but not the citizens of our country. That all changes – starting right here, and right now. Because today we are not merely transferring power from one administration to another, or from one party to another – but we are transferring power from Washington, D.C. and giving it back to you, the American People.^{xi}

So far, President Trump has broken this promise to the American people.

As this report details, President Trump has failed to transfer power to the people, and instead, has flooded the proverbial “swamp” and accumulated even greater power in the hands of a select few. Americans of all political stripes should be concerned by the Trump Administration's actions and should ask themselves, “Whose side is the President on?”

Four hundred days in and the answer seems more and more clear.

ABOUT THE DEMOCRACY REFORM TASK FORCE

The Democracy Reform Task Force is a concerted effort in the House of Representatives to build a government that puts the public interest ahead of special interests. Despite promises to “drain the swamp,” President Trump and the Republican-controlled Congress are pursuing an agenda that primarily benefits the wealthy and well-connected, while flouting long-established norms and laws that prevent public corruption.

To fight back, the Democracy Reform Task Force – chaired by Congressman John Sarbanes – is working to confront the Trump Administration’s conflicts of interest and ethical lapses and fight back against special-interest policies in Congress, while advancing positive reforms to improve accountability and transparency in government.
